

CRED TAMPA BAY

2021

CRED Tampa Bay Encore Project

COMMUNITY REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT CERTIFICATE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA

The Community Real Estate Development Program at USF offers practical training for community developers and others in the industry, providing the tools needed to carry out successful affordable housing and community based real estate development projects

Who Should Attend

Affordable housing developers

Local government community development staff

Board members of community development organizations, community-based organizations, community housing development organizations

Policymakers and community leaders who are engaged in promoting affordable housing

Students in business, urban studies, architecture and others who desire a more hands-on experience in project level real estate financial analysis

Basic Skills in Real Estate Development

This learning module teaches the skills needed to:

Instructors