

Education is a conduit for life opportunities, human rights, and justice.

All students should have access to excellent teachers and to rich educational experiences.

Ongoing professional development can enrich teachers' expertise and experiences.

Caregivers and communities are critical partners in education.

Exceptional teachers of tomorrow are shaped by the great teachers of today.

Students bring inherent strengths and assets to the teaching and learning space that should be valued.

Equitable and just education policies and practices bring real and sustaining change

The mission of the David C. Anchin Center for the Advancement of Teaching is to work with K-12 teachers toward restructuring schools in ways that improve the quality of education, and to restructure the teaching profession in ways that enhance our ability to attract and retain able teachers.

Learn more at: usf.edu/anchin